1. Introduction

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to set out a framework outlining the King Edward VI Foundation and Academy Trust's approach to safeguarding and child protection in relation to suicide safety.

Definitions

The King Edward VI Foundation (the 'Foundation Charity') (registration no. 529051) charity, comprises two Independent Schools and the Foundation Office. The King Edward VI Academy Trust Birmingham (the 'Academy Trust') (registration no. 10654935) incorporates the Academies. (The Foundation Charity and the Academy Trust are collectively known as the 'Foundation'.)

See Safeguarding & Child Protection Policy for context of King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls.

Commitment

The Foundation is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of all its pupils. We believe that:

- All young people have the right to be protected from harm, abuse and exploitation.
- All young people have the right to experience their optimum mental and physical health.
- That every young person has the right to be safe and to feel safe in school.
- Young people need support that matches their individual needs.
- All young people should respect and support each other.
- By having clear systems and processes in place, identification of needs will be identified early.
- All staff and visitors have an important role to play in safeguarding young people and protecting them from abuse, harm and exploitation.

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children includes ensuring that young people are safe whilst in school and taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes.

King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) will follow Keeping Children Safe in Education 2024 in reference to:

- Safeguarding information for all staff.
- What school staff should know and do.
- A child centred and coordinated approach to safeguarding.

This policy cannot be separated from our general ethos and safeguarding culture within school which ensures that students:

- are treated with respect and dignity.
- are taught to treat each other with respect.
- feel safe.
- have a voice and are listened to, ensuring that our approach to safeguarding is child-centred, always considering the best interests of the child.

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children is everyone's responsibility. Everyone who encounters young people, and their families has a role to play to fulfil this responsibility effectively, including identifying concerns, sharing information and taking prompt action.

Diversity and Equality Mission Statement

We believe that all members of our community are entitled to be treated fairly and equally regardless of their race, ethnicity, religion, gender, sex, sexuality or disability. Our purpose is to challenge discrimination in all its forms so that our students can achieve educational excellence.

2. Aims and Values

King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) will endeavour to provide an environment where every student can feel safe, happy, healthy and able to achieve.

This policy will contribute to the protection and safeguarding of our pupils and promote their welfare by:

- Adopting a whole school approach to safeguarding.
- Ensuring that safeguarding and child protection underpin all relevant aspects of process and policy development in school.
- Clarifying standards of behaviour for staff and pupils.
- Contributing to the establishment of a safe, resilient, and robust ethos in the school, built on mutual respect and shared values.
- Introducing age-appropriate work within the curriculum on suicide safety. (INSERT ADDITIONAL CONTEXT IF APPROPRIATE).
- Encouraging pupils and parents to engage with school and external services to respond to and support behaviours of concern.
- Alerting staff to the signs and indicators that all may not be well.
- Developing staff awareness of the risks and vulnerabilities pupils face; and
- Addressing concerns at the earliest possible stage.

This means in King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) we will contribute to supporting our pupils by:

- Identifying and protecting all pupils, especially those identified as vulnerable.
- Identifying individual needs as early as possible; gaining the voice of pupils and designing plans to address those needs; and
- Working in partnership with pupils, parents/guardians/carers, and other agencies.

OUR VISION FOR WELLBEING

As a school, in order to prioritise and be committed to the wellbeing of all members of our school community, staff and students are committed to the development of resilience through connectedness, kindness and compassion.

Through the values, ethos and culture we advocate every day in line with our school vision, we aim to develop and nurture students and colleagues with sensitivity and mutual respect.

STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES

King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) is aware that suicide is the leading cause of death in young people and that we play a vital role in helping to prevent young suicide. We want to make sure that students at our school are as suicide-safe as possible and that our governors, parents and carers, teaching staff, support staff, students and other key stakeholders are aware of our commitment to be a Suicide-safer school.

School will therefore:

- Have conversations and listen to children and their families as early as possible.
- Understand the child's lived experience.
- Work collaboratively to improve children's life experience.
- Be open, honest and transparent with families in our approach.
- Empower families by working with them.
- Work in a way that builds on the families' strengths.
- Build resilience in families to overcome difficulties.

If school feels a multi-disciplinary approach is required, the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL)/Deputy, with parent/carer consent, must consider liaising with other agencies and complete an inter-agency assessment as appropriate. If required to, all staff will support other agencies and professionals in an early help assessment, in some cases acting as the lead practitioner.

SUICIDE AND CONTRIBUTORY FACTORS

Emergency CAMHS referrals have increased by 53% in three years (The Royal College of Psychiatrists). The increase means more than 600 children with a mental illness a week are deteriorating to such a state that they have reached crisis point. We're seeing the highest suicide rate in 30 years for school aged children.

King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) acknowledges that:

- Suicidal thoughts are common
We acknowledge that thoughts of suicide are common among young people.
- Suicide is complex
We believe that every suicide is tragic. There are several contributory factors surrounding a suicide and the reasons are often complex and individual to that person. However, we believe that there are lessons that may be learned from each death that may help prevent future deaths.
- Stigma inhibits learning – stigma can kill

We recognise that the stigma surrounding suicide and mental illness can be both a barrier to seeking help and a barrier to offering help. King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) is dedicated to tackling suicide stigma through our PSHCE curriculum, assemblies (where appropriate) and sharing information with parents. In our language and in our working relationships, we will promote open, sensitive talk that does not stigmatise and perpetuate taboos.

- Suicide is everyone's business
As a school, we recognise that students may seek out someone who they trust with their concerns and worries. We want to facilitate the reporting of any risks or concerns.
- Safety is important
We want to support our students, sometimes working in partnership with family, caregivers, external agencies and other professionals where this may enhance suicide-safety.
- Suicide is a difficult thing to talk about
We know that a student who is suicidal may find it very difficult to make their feelings known and speak openly about suicide. We have key adults in school who are specifically and regularly suicide-safety trained and who can identify when a pupil may be struggling with thoughts of suicide.
- Talking about suicide does not create or increase risk
We will provide our students with opportunities to speak openly about their worries with people who are ready, willing and able to support them.

CLARIFICATION OF TERMS

Suicidal ideations (SI), often called suicidal thoughts or ideas, is a broad term used to describe a range of contemplations, wishes, and preoccupations with death and suicide. Passive suicidal ideation should not be taken lightly. It's impossible to predict who's likely to act on these thoughts. That's why anyone who expresses passive suicidal ideation should be considered at risk for suicide. While someone might admit to wishing to die, they may deny making plans to do so. Warning signs that suicidal ideation has become active suicide ideation include giving away possessions, getting affairs in order, and saying goodbye to loved ones.

Risk factors, whilst not exhaustive, may include:

- Offline and online bullying;
- Over emphasis on academic success (and fear of failure);
- Lack of access to professional mental health care;
- Addiction;
- Depression or other mood disorder;
- A history of suicide in the family;
- A history of trauma or abuse;
- People who are marginalised/discriminated against;
- Lack of support network;
- A chronic illness and/or chronic pain;
- Previous suicide attempt.

PAPYRUS' TEN MYTHS AND FACTS SURROUNDING SUICIDE

- Myth one: If someone has a 'good' life, they can't feel suicidal.
Anyone at any time in their life can experience thoughts of suicide, regardless of their situation.
- Myth two: If you are having thoughts of suicide, you must be 'mentally ill.'
Many people who experience thoughts of suicide do not have a diagnosed mental health condition.

- Myth three: If I talk about suicide, it might put the idea in someone's head.
Having safe conversations around suicide will not make someone suicidal, instead it lets them know you are a person they can reach out to for support.
- Myth four: Men don't reach out for support with thoughts of suicide.
We hear from lots of men who have bravely reached out for support.
- Myth five: People bereaved by suicide don't want to talk about their loved one.
Most bereaved people still want to share their memories of the loved one they have lost, and celebrate their lives.
- Myth six: It's obvious when someone is experiencing thoughts of suicide.
There are lots of different signs that someone may be suicidal, some are less easy to spot so it is always best to ask directly.
- Myth seven: People who say they are suicidal are only 'attention seeking'.
Telling someone you are experiencing suicidal thoughts takes a huge amount of courage and should always be taken seriously.
- Myth eight: There's a set time on grieving a loved one lost to suicide.
Bereavement is very personal to the individual and their journey is unique to them. This journey should be respected.
- Myth nine: Suicide won't affect me.
Suicide doesn't discriminate – it can affect anyone at any time.
- Myth ten: Only the family or friends of someone who's died by suicide can be impacted by their death.
No matter how close you were to the person who died – if you need support with your feelings, they are valid, and you are deserving of that care.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- Our Senior Leadership Team will lead procedures as outlined in the staff section of this policy, in the event of a suicide, with support from members of the School Governing Body or Foundation where appropriate.
- The Headteacher, Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) and Senior Leader responsible for Staff CPD should be aware of who has received general suicide awareness education and those who have received Applied Suicide Intervention Skills Training (ASIST).
- Safeguarding, Pastoral and Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Teams will work together where students have thoughts of suicide or suicidal behaviours and will communicate the information with parents in order for them to keep their child safe.

Prevention

We know that early intervention can have a significant and lasting positive effect on the life of a young person and those around them. Beyond is a youth mental health charity tackling the growing mental health crisis affecting young people in the UK. They address the lack of access to support and create opportunities for early and personalised interventions using their expertise and resources to help those working with young people to access the right mental health support for those in their care.

Beyond's national directory offers comprehensive coverage of services, from 1:1 counselling to art therapy, ensuring individual needs are met. There are over 300 providers listed and each one is vetted by a dedicated clinician.

Suicide Intervention Team

The Foundation Leader in Education is responsible for the design of this policy; the Designated Safeguarding Lead (NAME) for the school is responsible for the implementation and maintenance of this policy in relation to our school context.

We have a Suicide Intervention Team whose members understand this policy and are trained in Suicide Prevention. This team of people has undertaken (LIST NAME/TYPE OF TRAINING INDIVIDUALS HAVE UNDERTAKEN E.G. ASIST) and school will endeavour for at least one trained person to be on duty during our opening hours. The Suicide Intervention Team will be the point of escalation for any concerns about a student or young person. The Suicide Intervention Team will keep confidential records on CPOMS/My Concern of students at risk of suicide to provide some continuity of care within the intervention model. These staff are:

- (DSL);
- (Deputy DSL);
- (First Aider)

Details of DSLs and Deputy DSLs can be found in the Safeguarding & Child Protection Policy.

Pastoral staff listed above and any Senior or Pastoral Leaders who have been trained will create a Suicide-Safety Plan with students who have been identified as being at risk of suicide. We will endeavour to ensure that all staff are suicide aware through staff training so that they know how to spot signs, what to do and how to escalate any concerns to the DSL/Deputy DSLs.

We will endeavour to ensure all students are suicide aware through PSHCE lessons and where appropriate form time activities/assemblies. These opportunities should equip our students to know how to spot signs, what to do and how to escalate any concerns to staff. We want to create a community where suicide is no longer taboo and young people feel able to tell someone if they feel suicidal and ask for help.

King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) will support any Foundation reviews of Mental Health and Wellbeing, which may include Suicide-Safety. This will ensure our suicide prevention work is integral to that of our wider community. It can also help identify and address possible patterns of suicidal behaviours across the Foundation. We will however take into consideration advice from Papyrus which states that we should be aware that statistical anomalies may occur from one year to the next, especially when comparing different communities or geographic areas. We will look at timeframes of three or more years to identify significant patterns.

In conjunction with (INSERT NAME) Health and Safety Officer, the yearly risk assessment considers the physical safety of our environment including the removal of potential ligature points, restricting access to places which facilitate jumping, and securely storing harmful substances.

We recognise that the need to protect someone's life must be balanced against the need to protect their confidentiality. We therefore routinely ask all students over 18 for permission to share any serious concerns for their welfare with an emergency contact of their choice. Should any student who is known to have suffered from suicidal thoughts leave school unexpectedly for whatever reason, we will endeavour to inform their emergency contact of their vulnerable state.

We recognise that students may experience periods of poor mental health while attending our school. We will endeavour to put in place mechanisms which allow staff (that have regular interaction with the student) to be able to flag or review any concerns about individual students including suicidal thoughts. Ideally this will be flagged immediately using CPOMS/My Concern. Students that are flagged on CPOMS/My Concern will be reviewed regularly and routinely by DSLs/Pastoral Leaders so that patterns of concerning behaviour can be spotted and the necessary steps put in place to keep them safe, including meeting them face to face.

When we identify a student at risk of suicide and decide to engage external services, such as hospital A&E departments or crisis centres, we will create explicit guidelines on the pathways that apply. Any guidelines will be developed in cooperation with the external services and will be reviewed regularly as the provision of such services change over time.

Suicide Postvention Team

In the event of a suicide, King Edward VI Camp Hill School for Girls (KECHG) will have a Suicide Postvention Team whose role it is to respond in the event of a suicide. Each member of the team will have a defined responsibility within our plan including leadership, family liaison and any communications with external agencies, including the media.

- The DSL will coordinate the liaison with internal and external agencies as appropriate.

Where appropriate, the Headteacher in collaboration with the Schools of King Edward VI Foundation Birmingham Communications Lead, will oversee communication with the media, parents, and governors.

We will support authorities if there is an inquest after someone has died by suicide in our school but will be mindful of the distress an inquest causes to the bereaved people. We will also be mindful of the impact supporting an inquest can have on staff. Further details are available here: Child death review: statutory and operational guidance \(England\) - GOV.UK

We will record and monitor deaths by suicide and the impact on the community and share anonymised information at the Foundation review. This will include on-going monitoring of student deaths including suicides, suspected suicides and self-harm done through a collection of information from CPOMS/My Concern, external services and information disclosed by students.

We will also

- Provide information about services/sources of bereavement support after a suicide.
- Assess the impact of any relevant intervention provided to staff or students.
- Reviewing lessons learned and any suggested changes to procedures and provisions of well-being services.
- Identification of multiple events, such as two suicides in a relatively short period of term (e.g. one term) which may indicate a possible suicide cluster, including investigating possible connections between individuals, their circumstances and their suicidal behaviour. Multiple suspected suicides may not be connected, but may contribute, in some vulnerable individuals, to thoughts of suicide as a way of dealing with problems. Where concerns arise regarding a possible suicide cluster we will immediately communicate with the local authority and collaborate closely with them to develop a response plan.

Staff

All staff will do their best to support students whilst recognising that we are not experts. Our aim as a school is to keep students “safe for now” while that young person, their parents/carers and school work to secure specialist help for them. Staff will follow the guidelines provided by Papyrus, which includes what to do if they have concerns about a student; how to support a student on return to school after they have engaged in suicidal behaviour and helpful/unhelpful language to use with a student.

WHAT DO I DO IF THERE IS IMMINENT RISK OF DEATH OR HARM?

If you determine that a young person has acted in a way that puts their life in danger, act quickly to keep them safe and ensure that there is no imminent risk.

1. If they have taken an overdose you need to contact the School First Aider/School Nurse immediately, providing them with as much information as possible. They will decide whether to contact the emergency services.
2. The School First Aider/School Nurse will then inform the DSL and Headteacher/Deputy Heads and the student's parents/carers. If the parent/carer is unable to attend school immediately, an appropriate member of staff will accompany the child to A&E and wait there with them until their parent/carer arrives.
3. If the young person has taken steps to end their life it is important that the young person does not feel judged or shamed for their suicide behaviour. Try to remain calm, even though you might be feeling scared, confused, upset or frustrated.
4. It may seem obvious considering their behaviour, but asking clearly about suicide allows you to have an open and non-judgemental conversation about suicide.
5. Ensure that you can have a conversation confidentially and that other students are not around.
6. You may have called for help, but in the meantime, you might be best placed to stay with the young person and to talk about how they are feeling. Once you have determined that suicide is their focus – just listen. Ask them to tell you about how they are feeling. They might not want to talk, but you can let them know that you will remain with them in supportive silence, and if they do want to talk you are there to listen. Your reassurance will help the young person to feel understood and supported.
7. If you determine that the young person's behaviour has not put their life in danger, but there has been an injury, you must seek support from the Lead First Aider/School Nurse (either by taking the student immediately to them, or asking them to meet you where you are with the student) and inform the DSL/DDSL/Senior Mental Health Lead.
8. If you have established that the action was intended to end their life, the parents/carers should be called, and the young person taken to A&E.
9. If the behaviour in question is historical behaviour, then the focus will be on what the young person has learned from this behaviour and using that learning to keep them safe.
10. All information and conversation logs need to be put onto CPOMS/My Concern immediately.

Staff can find information about mental health and wellbeing through resources provided by Now and Beyond and NHS/Kooth resource hub for teachers and education staff

Staff will be supported in the event of the death of a student by suicide or following a disclosure/intervention. Staff should contact Papyrus debrief service for immediate support but also speak to their line manager/senior leader if further support is needed. We know that this experience can be very challenging and want to support in any way we can. Staff can also access external agencies including Employee Assistance and Education Support Helpline in confidence on 08000 562 561.

If a student is bereaved by suicide, we will endeavour to support them in school and use external agencies. See Cruse how adults can support young people bereaved by suicide for details.

Staff can also access information on suicide, suicidal feelings and working in schools from Education Support. This guide aims to support school staff discuss suicide safely, as well as to support staff who are affected by suicide and suicidal feelings. This resource does not offer guidance on supporting children and young people.

Parents

It can be difficult to find out that someone you care about has thoughts/intentions of suicide. As a parent/carer you may feel angry, shocked, guilty and upset. These reactions are normal, but what the person you care about really needs is support from you. They need you to stay calm and to listen to them.

Try to:

- Keep an open mind;
- Make the time to listen;
- Help them find different ways of coping;
- Go with them to get the right kind of help as quickly as possible.

Some people you can contact for help, advice and support are:

- Your family doctor;
- Local/national services;
- NHS supporting someone with suicidal thoughts.

If a parent is concerned about their child, please let school know immediately: email details for form tutors and Pastoral Leaders can be found on our school website

Pupils

There are lots of people you can talk to about what you are going through. It is important to tell someone you trust and feel comfortable with, as they will be able to help and support you. You could talk to:

- friends;
- family;
- someone at school, such as your Form Tutor or a member of the Pastoral Team;
- your GP or healthcare professionals such as a counsellor or nurse;
- kooth is a free, safe and easy to access mental health service for young people. They're commissioned primarily by the NHS and are the only digital mental health service to be accredited by the BACP (British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy);
- charities and helplines.

There are no rules about how you should tell someone. The most important thing is that you feel comfortable and trust the person you decide to tell. Set time aside to talk to them. Remember you can set the pace and it is up to you how much you want to tell them.

If you find speaking about it too difficult, you can tell someone in writing or in an email. You can even ask a friend to speak to a trusted adult on your behalf. Let them know you need help with how you are feeling.

If you're worried that when you tell someone they won't understand, or if you have experienced this, suggest they talk to an expert in the field to try to understand more about suicide ideation. Don't let the fear of a bad reaction put you off seeking the help you need and deserve. As hard as it is to tell someone, sharing will take the pressure off you and help you get the right support and help available.

If you have concerns about another student, please prioritise their wellbeing and safety over your friendship, hard as that may be. They may be angry for a while, but getting help and support for them is much more important and friendships can be rebuilt. You can seek support from Papyrus if you have been affected by someone you know's suicide attempt or ring HOPELINE247
